AMENDED
FACT SHEET FOR S.B. 1288

Arizona water protection fund; projects

Purpose

Prohibits federal agencies from receiving funding through the Arizona Water Protection Fund.

Background

Established in 1994, the Arizona Water Protection Fund (Fund) is charged with providing an annual source of funds for projects that protect, restore and ensure the quality of the state's rivers, streams and riparian habitats, as well as the fish and wildlife resources dependent on those habitats (A.R.S. § 45-2101 et seq.). The Fund is administered by the Arizona Water Protection Fund Commission (Commission), comprised of 15 appointed citizen based voting members and 2 non-voting state agency members (A.R.S. § 45-2103).

Any individual, state or federal agency or political subdivision of Arizona may submit an application to the Commission and receive funding. Upon approval, the applicant must allow the inspection of a funded project, account for granted monies and submit any pertinent research to the Commission.

The Commission is required to notify counties, municipalities, natural resource conservation districts, special districts and Indian communities that may be affected by a proposed project and requires applicants to work with any affected entity as a condition of funding approval.

As of 2011, the Fund is no longer supported by legislative appropriation and receives revenue primarily by means of a fee levied in lieu of taxation on Central Arizona Project water delivered per acre foot. No grants were awarded for fiscal year 2012; however, the Commission continued to hold regular business meetings. Additionally, staff continues to provide project management for 26 active grant projects and technical assistance to grantees.

There is no anticipated fiscal impact to the state general fund as a result of this legislation.
